We are pleased to announce the Call for Papers for the 2009 AAV Annual Conference & Expo with the Association of Exotic Mammal Veterinarians (AEMV) in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, USA. The conference is scheduled for August 8-15, 2009, at the Hyatt Regency Milwaukee. The Association of Amphibian and Reptile Veterinarians (ARAV) will be hosting their conference simultaneously at the same location. This year marks the first opportunity for you to get all your pet exotics CE at a scientific conference in one location. This landmark event is the culmination of several years of planning and is sure to be something you won't want to miss!

The prime downtown Milwaukee location is connected to the convention facility, Federal Plaza, Grand Avenue Mall and is just one block from the scenic Riverwalk. Our conference theme for 2009 is "Milwaukee's Best." As the field of avian, exotic mammal, and reptile and amphibian medicine and surgery continues to expand, all of our combined associations hope to provide you with the knowledge and the fun that will make this the best conference you have ever attended!

The program format this year will contain cutting edge avian, small mammal, and amphibian/reptilian lectures and Master Classes, the popular "all species" roundtables, as well as offering a special program for our veterinary technicians. Those of you who have not presented in the past, especially veterinary technicians, should consider submitting a paper for 2009. We encourage submissions of avian, small mammal and reptile/amphibian subjects for the technician sessions, research, diagnostics, case reports, and knowledge reviews. Please visit the appropriate link on the conference website (note there is one website, but 3 different links for AAV, AEMV, or ARAV paper submission respectively).

Please complete the Call for Papers Application and return to the Conference Office NO LATER THAN December 1, 2008;
